AT CHURCH SERVICEMembers of American Legion and Other Societies Attend Special Ceremony.

TAPS SOUNDED AT ALTAR

Dr. Stires Points to Lessons of Great Conflict at Gathering in St. Thomas's Church.A bugle sounded taps for the dead yesterday afternoon from the altar of St.
Thomas's Church, Fifth avenue at Fifty-third street, at a special service in which those who fell in the war were honored by their living comrades.The sound of the bugle, ringing clear in the great church, was the climax of an impressive ceremony in which the flags of many posts of the American Legion and the banners of other patriotic societies, held aloft by veterans, formed a great aisle of color before the altar.Representatives of the many societies, including the Red Cross, Grand Army of the Republic, Military Order of Foreign Wars, United Spanish American War Veterans, Colonial Dames, Daughters of the Cincinnati, Union Society, Veteran Corps of Artillery, Sons of the Revolution, Sons of the American Revolution, and Order of Founders and Patriots, with as many other persons as could crowd in, occupied the body of the church.The standard bearers and color guard, most of whom wore decorations for bravery and service, marched down the main aisle and took their places in the front. The processional hymn was written for and dedicated to the members of the American Legion by T. Tertius Noble, organist of the church. The service included the singing of patriotic hymns.In his address the Rev. Dr. Ernest M.
Stires said that the message of the dead was that the great war was only the first phase of a fight to save the world, and that the next campaign is to be won by ballots, rather than by bullets, and by hearts and souls flung into the fight against disloyalty, corruption and indifference. Unless the living mobilize now, he said, the first victory will soon be without value."We cannot truly honor them unless we consecrate ourselves to their unfinished task," he said. "Let us definitely understand what that task is. It is this: Civilization shall find a better method than war for the settlement of international disputes. America must be free and safe, but America must join and lead the other nations of the world. We must not forget our allies. Our watchword, 'one country, one language and one flag,' shall be made effective in the life of this nation from ocean to ocean." A collection taken up at the service by soldiers in uniform will be devoted to the care of the sick and wounded by the American Legion. The details of the ceremony were arranged by H. Seward Le Fèvre of the Second Division Post of the Legion.20 AMERICAN STUDENTS TO GO TO SCANDINAVIAWin Travelling Scholarships of $1,000 Each.Twenty American students representing nineteen American universities and colleges have been appointed to travelling scholarships of $1,000 each, for study in the universities and technical schools of Denmark, Norway and Sweden during the school year 1921-1922.
The successful candidates were selected from 191 applicants, forty more than applied for the scholarships last year. The selections were made by a jury appointed by the American Scandinavian Foundation under the terms of a fellowship exchange between the United States and Scandinavian countries which provides for twenty Scandinavian students at American universities. Ten of the American students will be sent to Sweden and five each to Denmark and Norway.Four will study languages and literature, three hydroelectric engineering, two chemistry, two forestry, two economics. The others will study metal-lurgy, medicine, physics, fisheries, agriculture, philosophy or church history.
Henry Vettel of Cornell is the only New Yorker on the list. He will go to Sweden to study forestry.VIVIANI WILL SPEAK

LAID TO JEWS IN U. S.Chairman Weizmann Says Honor of Race Is at Stake in Restoration Plan.

THOUSANDS AT MEETING

Einstein Among Those in the Metropolitan—Judge Mack and Louis Marshall Speak.The success of the movement to create a Jewish national home in Palestine and to establish a Jewish commonwealth later depends upon the Jews in America.
This statement was made to several thousand Jews at a meeting in the Metropolitan Opera House yesterday afternoon by Prof. Chaim Weizmann, president of the Zionist World Organization and a member of the visiting Zionist delegation, among whom is numbered Dr. Albert Einstein."The key to the problem does not rest in the pocket of High Commissioner Herbert Samuel, nor in the pocket of the officials of the Zionist World Organization," Prof. Weizmann said. "Jewish honor is at stake in the attempt to restore Palestine. The success or failure of our dream is in your hands." The reception was held under auspices of the Zionist Organization of America.
Judge Julian W. Mack presided. Although Dr. Einstein sat on the platform as an honor guest, he was not called upon to speak.Prof. Weizmann said the three lines the pioneers in the movement in Palestine must follow are the development of agriculture, the creation of industrial enterprises and the continuance of Jewish culture and education. The first in-importance he believed was agriculture.
From 25,000 to 40,000 Jews are ready to make their living off the land. He declared that the Rothschild colonization schemes proved that the Jew can be a successful agriculturist."There is enough land in Palestine to sustain a population eight or nine times greater than the number there now," Prof. Weizmann continued. "There will be no encroachment on the Arabic population. The centre of gravity of the Arab is around Damascus, Cairo and Bagdad; the centre of gravity of the Jews is Jerusalem."Although the Jew will find when he arrives in Palestine that he is not getting into luxuries, but into hard work, there will be schools and books and other cultural interests presented to him and his children, the speaker said. The culture that maintained itself for generations in the ghetto will here have freedom for full expression, and it is the aim of the movement to create a great Jewish university.With agricultural and industrial opportunities and the human material at hand to re-create a Jewish nationality, Jewry of the world is on trial, Dr. Weizmann said in his appeal to the Jews of America to help the movement in Palestine.Among the speakers were Judge Mack, Louis Marshall, Michael Ussish-
